ASSOCIATION OF AUSTRALIA

About the Historic Houses Association of Australia

The Historic Houses Association of Australia began in 1988, bringing together the 'friends' of some of Sydney's most important buildings, such as Elizabeth Bay House and Vaucluse House to support the NSW Government's Historic Houses Trust.

In 2014, the association became national. It is now a registered charity and volunteer organisation, with a growing national membership and reach.

We represent private owners of houses and gardens throughout Australia. We include corporate, charitable and educational bodies who join us as Property Network Members.

We seek to shape the future of the built heritage of Australia by acting as a 'collective voice' for owners, to ensure their concerns are heard and that their properties are valued for the contributions they make to our society's 'sense of place'.

Our Network

Our 30 year history has seen our profile become increasingly compelling and more consistent, and we firmly believe in our strength as an educator, authority and heritage ambassador.

As a member of the Property Network, HHA will endeavour to support you as custodians by offering opportunities to share knowledge, develop connections, promote your property/activities and represent your interests on a national platform.

Our Reach

We have Property Network members throughout Australia and are proactively seeking to increase our membership.

Our publications and social output can reach an audience of 10,000+. We have a solid and consistent social media presence with quality engagements. Our website regularly has over 1,500 visitors/month.
